

Excalibre Manufacturing

Excalibre Manufacturing approached CQS to pursue ISO 9001 Certification for their newly established business, building on a strong history of collaboration.

Specialising in remanufacturing commercial vehicle exhaust systems, Excalibre recognised that ISO 9001 Certification would not only enhance their credibility but also serve as a key requirement for accessing specific commercial opportunities.

Achieving this certification enables Excalibre to distinguish itself from competitors and meet the stringent expectations of its key clients. Looking ahead, the organisation plans to integrate its health and safety processes into the existing Quality Management System (QMS), aiming to develop a comprehensive, fully integrated business management system. The adoption of a document management solution will support this transition by streamlining operations and ensuring consistency across systems.

The certification assessment was conducted smoothly, supported by a CQS assessor already familiar with Excalibre's prior operations. CQS is proud to continue its partnership with Excalibre Manufacturing and looks forward to supporting their ongoing growth and success.

Company Overview

Excalibre specialise in emissions control and commercial vehicle exhausts.

Location

Mitcheldean, Gloucestershire

Industry

Motor Vehicle Parts Manufacturing

Size

11-50 employees

Certification achieved

ISO 9001 Certification

Background / Challenge

Excalibre Manufacturing, a new business specialising in remanufactured vehicle exhaust systems, pursued ISO 9001 Certification to boost credibility and meet client requirements. Their challenge was to build a quality framework that differentiated them from competitors while preparing for future integration of health and safety processes into a unified management system.